VOLUME XXXVIII

PUBLISHED 1951, LARAMIE, WYOMING

WE DEDICATE THIS 1951 WYO to the students of the University . . . the young people who must give up security as an ideal. In this atomic age when the most distant points on the earth are but a few hours away, it becomes quite evident that we live in a wonderful but dangerous era. It is a time when the wonders of science seem as amazing as the fantastic happenings in the most far-fetched comic-strip. It is a time when men must worry about "flying saucers" and atomic radiation. It is a time when men must be strong, looking forward and never back. We dedicate this book to those who will strive for "New Frontiers". . . For that distant hope when all men will be brothers and all nations will be united.

FOREWORD

In this volume we trust you will find,
Many pictures which bring back to mind
The Collegiate joys
And the girls and the boys,
And professors, and deans, and their kind.

We have tried to appease every whim.
We have pictures of Suzy and Jim,
Of erudite scholars,
And "Magnolia Maulers,"
And of Co-Eds, both chubby and slim.

Yet the Editor's face shows dejection,
When he looks at this book of perfection,
For it's easy to see,
That it may never be,
A Book-of-the-Month club selection.

Today, frontiers are more challenging than those of the Overland Trail, It is no longer a challenge of nature, but more a challenge of the forces of nature that are working for us.

Pioneering new frontiers at the University of Wyoming is President G. D. Humphrey. One of the outstanding accomplishments President Humphrey has done since he came to the University has been to help extend all University services to different parts of the state. This has been achieved through broadening and developing community services, correspondence courses, and general extension.

He also has great interest in increased cooperation with towns where University Centers are located, the helping and development of Casper Junior College, intensification of work at the University farms in eight parts of the state. President Humphrey has helped further education in the fields of veterinary medicine and dentistry in eleven of the western states, and has inaugurated education, business, and resources research, which include experiments in atomic energy.

President Humphrey looks on as Governor Crane lays corner stone at New Education Building.

Old Main, which once housed the entire University of Wyoming, remains the principal building on the campus. In it are the many administrative offices of the President, the Deans, the Board of Trustees, and all the other people in high places who help rule this "Kingdom" of 144 acres.

University Hall, or Old Main, as it is familiarly known on the campus, was completed in 1887 and extensively remodeled in 1949. All the old interior was taken out and replaced by new fixtures, such as masonry walls, steel windows with plate glass, and concrete stairways. The old auditorium was taken out and made into office suites for the administrative staffs of Personnel, Adult Education, Veterans' Relations, Student Employment, and Property.

The remodeling of Old Main was only a small portion of the $7,500,000 building program which is making the University of Wyoming campus one of the finest in the Nation.

Wyoming Hall represents a "new frontier" in housing conditions at the University of Wyoming. The huge building houses about 400 single men in a modern, hotel atmosphere.

The double rooms are done in eight pastel shades and the beds are probably softer than those the men sleep in at home.

There is a large lounge enclosed in thermopane glass, and the border around the floor has the insignia of various frats inlaid in linoleum.

The spacious building was completed just after fall quarter began at a cost of $980,000.

NEW WYOMING HALL
MEN'S RESIDENCE

In January of 1950, 87 girls moved into the new South Wing of Knight Hall. Completion of the addition marked another step in fulfillment of the dream of providing pleasant, comfortable, modern housing for all girls on the campus, which began in 1940 with Knight Hall itself. The new wing alleviated the problem of housing for women which existed at the time, by taking in many of the girls who had lived in town and about 20 sorority girls. There are 33 double rooms, and seven rooms for three along its spacious corridors. The rooms are homey, airy, and decorated in soft pastels. Although it adjoins Knight Hall and uses many of the same facilities, South Wing functions as an independent unit, with its own office and reception rooms. Like the rest of the building, the addition is of native stone from the University's own quarries. Careful landscaping leading up to the gracious entrance helps to make this massive structure one of the most beautiful on the campus.

NEW SOUTH WING OF KNIGHT HALL

The 160 rooms and 105,613 square feet of floor space will enable the College of Education to handle about twice the December, 1949 enrollment, then at an all-time high of 600 students.

The building will include a nursery-kindergarten, a 12-grade laboratory school, college classrooms, service rooms and extremely modern clinical facilities. Also included will be an auditorium 60 by 65 feet, and a regulation high school gym with a playing floor 50 by 84 feet.

It will include all this plus very classy, very scientific, very modern, green blackboards in the classrooms.

The gigantic building should be finished next summer.

GOVERNOR CRANE, who was president of the University of Wyoming from 1922-1941 and is now President Emeritus, has never ceased to be keenly interested in and alert to matters pertaining to the University. He has gained the title of "the Builder" through his long years of service, as a result of his untiring efforts to create a bigger and better institution of higher learning for the State of Wyoming.

During Dr. Crane's reign as Governor, he has taken part in many of the school's most important ceremonies. He was speaker at both the 1949 and 1950 Commencement Exercises.

Governor Crane
Ex-Officio Member of Board of Trustees

BOARD OF TRUSTEES, appointed by the Governor of Wyoming with the consent of the State Senate, consists of nine active members. They are Milward L. Simpson, President of the Board, Earle G. Burwell, Tracy S. McCraken, Joseph R. Sullivan, H. D. Watenpaugh, Clifford P. Hansen, Harold Del Monte, Mrs. Lorna Patterson, and John A. Reed. A. G. Crane, Edna B. Stolt, and George Duke Humphrey are ex-officio members.

These Board members are confident that there are endless new frontiers open for exploration and development in our great, growing University of Wyoming. Wonderful opportunities are waiting for the ambitious, far-seeing student in the search for new and hitherto unknown natural resources and industries, in the improvement and development of all types of ranching, farming, and manufacturing, and in cultural and educational fields. The University will continue to grow and prosper as it fills the needs of enquiring youth.

DEAN LUELLA GALLIVER came to the University of Wyoming in 1926 as Freshmen dean and director of the freshmen dorm, which was then Merica Hall. In 1931 she became acting dean and the next year she was carrying the full responsibility of guiding the Wyoming coeds.

During the 22 years that Miss Galliver has been here, she has seen the beginnings of many of the organizations on the campus, and has aided in the growth of the University and the people who are a part of it.

DEAN A. L. KEENEY. Since those hectic days of 1946, when enrollment at the university tripled, things like housing married veterans, solving their subsequent problems, and being a "dutch uncle" to the 2000-odd cowboys on the campus have become routine to Dean Keeney. The Dean also keeps a paternal eye on the thirteen active fraternities . . . and they all have homes, now. Friendly smiles and words of advice are dealt out impartially from behind the big desk in his office on the third floor of Old Main.

C. B. Jensen
Buildings and Grounds

ADMINISTRATION

One of the largest departments on the campus and one that certainly covers the most territory is the Buildings and Grounds Department. As head of this department, C. B. Jensen watches over all the maintenance, repair, and remodeling for the entire campus.

The man who is in charge of those unending lines during registration is R. E. McWhinnie. As a student at the University of Wyoming, he became fascinated with those lines and became the University registrar. He has spent some 30 years in this capacity.

For many years, John A. Hill was Dean of the College of Agriculture. He kept Wyoming's Ag College standards high — it ranked among the top agricultural schools in the nation. Last year, after serving the University well, Mr. Hill retired as Dean and now serves as Vice President of the University.

In the Army, it was the chaplain you told your troubles to. At the University of Wyoming, the ex-G. I.'s tell their troubles to Mr. L. S. Crawford. He's the man who can tell you how much longer you'll be getting those subsistance checks.

R. E. McWhinnie
Registrar

J. A. Hill
Vice-President, University

L. S. Crawford
Veterans Administration

N. O. Rush
Director, University Library

L. G. Meeboer
University Business Manager

Mr. L. G. Meeboer is the man who pays the bills here at this multi-million dollar institution. You think your bills are high . . . brother, you haven't seen anything.

Mr. N. O. Rush, who came very recently to the University of Wyoming, has developed our present library to a degree that had never previously been reached. He has many plans for the development of a new library. Construction on the new building is slated to begin sometime in 1951.

Dr. O. R. Hendrix is in charge of the testing services which find whether students are best fitted for teaching school or washing dishes. He plays an important part in finding jobs for graduating students. He also lends an ear to students with long, sad stories who find college life not to their liking.

Mr. J. D. Alford is a school teacher who doesn't know whether his students are slim, chubby, or obnoxious. He is in charge of all the correspondence courses which are mailed to all parts of the state.

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Fay E. Smith knows that the cost of running a University is high. He is one of the financial wizards who helps keep the budget under control.

Bell gave us the telephone, Morse gave us the telegraph, but Walt Miller gave us the seven cent bottle of pop. He is taking our Union out of the red and is putting it on solid financial ground.

When John Jones or Mary Smith cracks the Honor Roll or does something else equally difficult, Miss Gertrude Dorety is the one who sends their names in to the home-town newspaper. She serves as publicity agent for all the students on the campus.

Mr. H. L. Van Blair is the keeper of the A.S.U.W. books. He is the man who gets hot on your trail if he finds that you owe the University money. He keeps strict surveillance on the school budget.

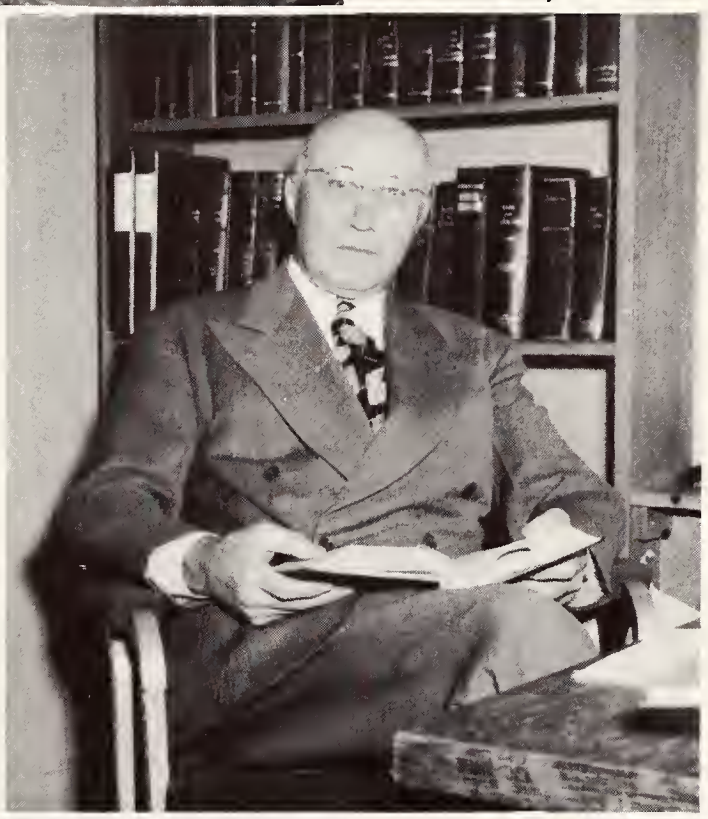
DEANS AND DEPARTMENT HEADS

This year, the theme of our WYO is "New Frontiers." Befitting our theme, we have asked some of the Deans and Department heads to speculate on the exploration and development of new frontiers still to be pioneered in each of their departments.

H. M. Briggs
Dean of Agriculture

Dean H. M. Briggs was not in Laramie at the time of the WYO interviews and was therefore not available for comment. This is Dr. Briggs' first year as head of the College of Agriculture, and we are sure he has many ideas for developing and exploring new frontiers in Agriculture.



R. R. Hamilton
Dean of Law

Dean R. R. Hamilton: Although it may be a surprise to many people, we do not plan to have too much of an increase in enrollment because we do not wish to overpopulate the state with lawyers. However, we do plan to extend our legal services to various agencies in the state.

Dean David O'Day: Being a comparatively new department in the university, we have a great many plans for expansion, such as increasing library facilities, installing two new laboratories, and the taking over of the first three floors of Merica Hall.

Dean Mundell: The College of Commerce and Industry is working on improvements and changes in each four-year curriculum and in each individual course. It is anticipated that physical facilities and equipment will continue to be the best available.

David W. O'Day
Dean of Pharmacy

M. C. Mundell
Dean of Commerce

Dr. S. H. Knight was in Washington D. C. at the time he was scheduled for interview and so we could not contact him for a statement. Dr. Knight has served the University of Wyoming for many years and is outstanding in the field of geology.

Dean H. T. Person: Our main frontiers for exploration in this department are expansion in graduate work in engineering and increased research activity. We will continue our program of top-notch undergraduate work in all fields.

Dr. Robert H. Burns, one of America's outstanding experts in wool, was not available for comment on the expansion of his department in future years.

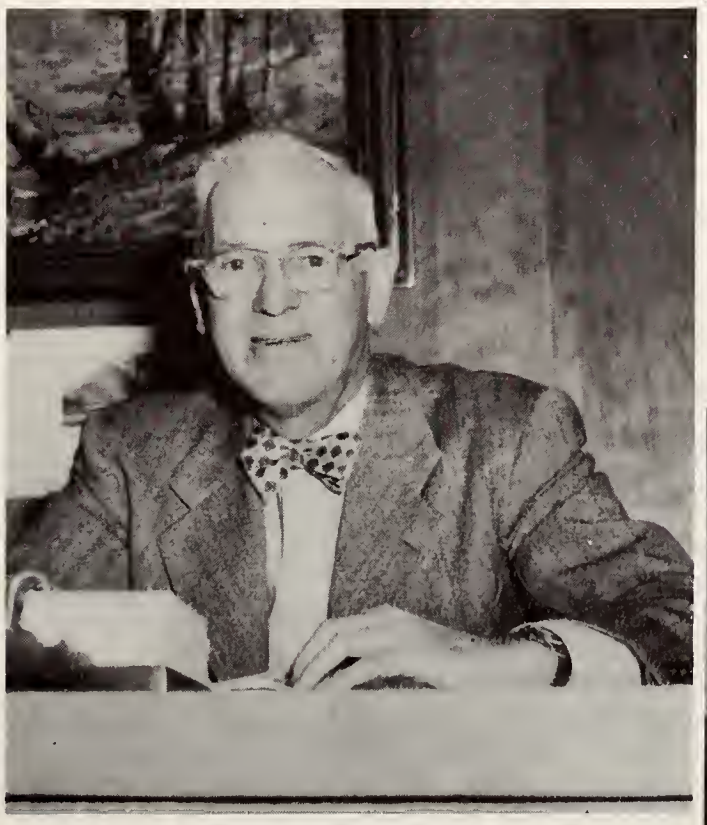
Dean O. C. Schwiering: In the future, our five-year unified training program will be developed to train elementary and secondary teachers at the same time. One quarter of required Internship Training will be introduced. Our dreams will come true when the new education building is completed. It will be one of the finest training plants in the United States.

Dean O. H. Rechard: The strengthening of present offerings, the development of programs for general education, expansion into fields appropriate to the college but hitherto uncultivated, and continued emphasis on stimulating teaching — these carry challenges of new, unexplored frontiers.

S. H. Knight
Acting Dean of Graduate School and Head of Geology Department

H. T. Person
Dean of Engineering

O. H. Rechard
Dean of Liberal Arts



O. C. Schwiering
Dean of Education

R. H. Burns
Head of Wool Department

R. D. Watkins
Men's Physical Ed.

Miss E. J. McKittrick
Home Economics

L. R. Kilzer
Secondary Education

Miss E. J. McKittrick was unable to be interviewed as to how her department plans expansion and development in future years.

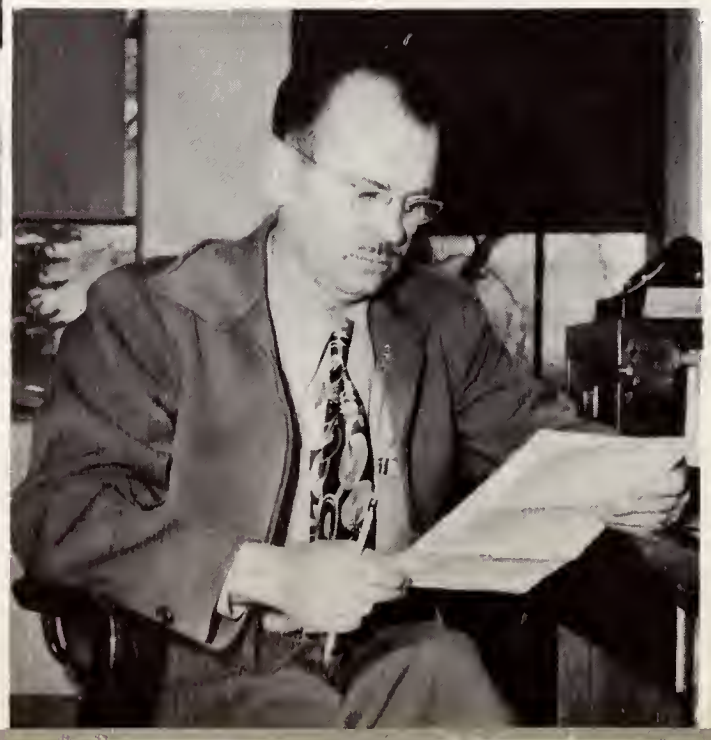
Mr. R. D. Watkins: We want to develop a complete course in Recreation. There is a great demand for Recreational supervisors in the large cities. This program would include instruction in dance, festival, sport leagues, and aquatics.

Mr. L. R. Kilzer: The internship of teachers is the principle goal of this department. We want to put them on the firing line and see how they react under authentic teaching conditions. We want to use a five year training program, instead of just four.

A. E. Bowman
Agronomy Extension Service

Mr. A. E. Bowman: One of the main objectives of this office is to carry to the rural people the latest information on caring for their crops and animals.

Mr. V. O. Long: At this time, we have outstanding laboratory facilities for a school of this size, and we will take a back seat to no one. We are striving to hit an equitable balance between application and theory.



V. O. Long
Electrical Engineering

DEPARTMENT HEADS

Mr. J. R. MacNeel: The Department of Guidance, aside from continuing the present offerings, is interested primarily in development in the field of special education and care of crippled children. It is hoped that training of elementary, secondary, and college counselors will be enlarged.

Mr. O. A. Beath: We want to give students a better basic knowledge of rocks and derived soil of the state in order to head off erosion and depletion of the soil. In the future, we also intend to have a place to exhibit all poisonous plants so that controls can be made to curb these plants.

Mr. W. R. Biggs: The University of Wyoming needs a twice-weekly paper. A Director of Publications should be hired as a full-time staff member and should be in charge of all campus publications. We need a more extensive training program in radio.

Mr. Eric J. Lindahl: The department needs more equipment to work with, and a more experienced and larger staff. We are advancing in many stages. It is hoped to develop a graduate program. This could be accomplished with more space for equipment. Our metallurgy field in constantly enlarging.

W. E. Daniels

DEPARTMENT HEADS

Mr. Carl A. Cinnamon: As in the past, expansion of the physics department will depend upon developments in the general field of physics. Before the war we had a staff of two; now we have nine full-time instructors. The impacts of atomic energy will be noted in an increased demand for instruction in the fields of radio activity and nuclear physics.

Mr. W. E. Daniels: The Department of Accounting anticipates greater interest and increased student enrollment in accounting courses and in federal taxation. Plans are formulated for additional course offerings at the graduate level.

Mr. A. J. McGaw: The Civil Engineering department has found jobs for all its graduates for the past twenty years. In the future, we will continue to do the same. We don't want to graduate anyone we can't find a job for.

Mr. Hugh McFadden: In the future, we will continue a program of strong under-graduate training and will offer a sound graduate program for the Masters degree. Principle research emphasis is placed on comparative psychology, learning and perception.

A. J. McGaw
Civil Engineering

Hugh McFadden
Psychology and Philosophy

A. A. Willman
Music

Mr. Allan A. Willman: Students and music supervisors in the state are looking more and more to the University because of the program in music education. The annual Band Clinic must be limited to an enrollment of 100 high school bandsmen each summer, so great is the interest in this project.

Mr. L. L. Smith: The goals we are striving for are a continuation of present offerings, more attention to the humanities, larger demands for courses in American, English, and world literature, and better faculty conditions of service and salary.

Mr. E. R. Schierz: The current development of the technique of using radio-active isotopes as tracers in chemical reactions has opened a promising field for future research. The Department of Chemistry plans to participate in the development of this frontier.

Mr. R. A. Morgan was unable to be contacted for an interview, but it is easy to see that his department is doing a remarkable job in training engineers. Few people graduate from the college without at least two job opportunities. It is hard to see how the school could develop. It's just about tops now!

Mr. Walter C. Reusser: Within the next five years we expect University Extension to double or treble the 1949 enrollment. Our Audio-visual department now reaches a half million people each year. There is no reason why it can't be increased many times.

L. L. Smith

W. C. Reusser

R. A. Morgan

A. F. Vass
Agronomy and Economics

Mr. A. F. Vass: It is the duty of this department to teach future agriculturalists the essentials of sound farming procedures. In economics, we teach students how to make money as farmers and ranchers. This is an important phase of agriculture and we will continue to realize its importance in years to come.

Mr. A. J. Dickman: The frontiers in our department are unlimited, but if the Legislature cuts our budget, and the enrollment drops, what projects can we make? It seems that hence-forward, we shall have to fit those frontiers to a reduced budget and to continue with as many advanced courses as the hard-worked instructors will stand.

Mr. Ralph E. Conwell: The frontiers which are still open for development in the Department of Economics and Sociology can properly be said to fall chiefly within the rich opportunities presented by our own state. In economics, sociology, social work, and anthropology, much can be done to better serve the state.

Mrs. L. H. Summers: In the future, our department anticipates the offering of specialized classes for court reporting and for secretarial work in the professions of law and medicine. This would provide an opportunity for adequate preparations by those seeking such positions.

Mr. Richard R. Dunham: The completion of the new auditorium in the education building is the first step forward for the Speech department. With more room, needed workshops, and labs, the theater will be able to present more and better productions with more sudents participating.

DEPARTMENT HEADS

Mr. Forrest A. Holmes: It is our hope to further the guidance program in the future and to produce more Agriculture and Home Economics teachers. If war comes, we plan on training men and women for essential war industries. In peace, we will strive to develop our distributive education program.

Mr. E. C. Bryant: The extension of more rigorous analytical methods to other fields appears to be the real problem facing statisticians in the coming decades. The development of sound methodology in time series analysis and economic forecasting probably poses the greatest challenge to modern day statisticians.

Mr. James M. Boyle: Our primary objective in the Art department is to return to five instructors. The reason for this is to embark on a program with five major areas of concentrated study. These areas are painting, sculpture and ceramics, design, graphics, and advertising design.

Mr. Gale McGee: The History department has two specific phases in mind for future development. The first is a program of American studies and ideas, broader than American history courses. The second is an expanding of the study of American foreign policy.

Mr. W. G. Solheim: At the present time, this department is in need of larger quarters, better equipment, and a library for use of the faculty and students in our own department. In the future, we expect to devote a good deal more time to basic research. Sometime, we also hope to be able to train candidates for Ph. D. Degrees in Botany.

Animal Production

Mr. N. W. Hilston: Our ultimate aim in Animal Production is to produce better breeds of animals, and animals which put on more weight in less time with less cost. We will strive toward the production of the best lambs possible and toward an increase of the number of lambs being born through science.

After many years of outstanding service to the University, Mr. W. L. Quayle is retiring from the Department of State Farms. It is the aim of the College of Agriculture to expand this department of State Farms to even greater dimensions than it achieved in past years under the able supervision of Mr. Quayle.

Mr. L. Floyd Clarke: Future anticipated developments in the Department of Zoology and Physiology include the strengthening of existing programs and the addition of new offerings at the graduate level. Programs in the medical sciences and in Zoology, Wildlife Conservation and Management, are constantly being improved.

Mr. C. F. Barr: The greatest challenges lie in research teamwork with other departments — in Atomic research, engineering advancement, industrial sampling techniques, and quality control. Even the social sciences and biological behavior are demanding more and more from the various fields of mathematics.

Mr. Herman H. Trachsel: With politics playing an increasingly important part in the lives of modern Americans, it is necessary that we become more familiar with local, national, and world politics.

HONORARIES

President

MORTAR BOARD

Mortar Board is a Senior women's honorary and is the highest honor which can be bestowed on a Wyoming coed. The Wyoming chapter is one of 82 chapters in the country. It strives to promote courage and loyalty, and to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among University women. Each spring we see the candlelit procession of the Mortar Boards as they gather in their new members. The constant question in the minds of the Juniors is "Who will make it this year?" Mortar Board rewards these enterprising seniors annually by welcoming them into the folds of the organization and giving them one of the most highly coveted pins on the campus.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

Alpha Kappa Psi is a men's honorary of future financial wizards and potential experts in the field of commerce. It takes a lot of adding and subtracting, knowledge of markets, selling, retailing and other commercial problems to get in this honorary. The members should have little trouble filling any kind of commercial job when they get out, with a background as complete as this. Their main aims are to acquaint their members with the future and present problems of business and industry. Alpha Kappa Psi hold bi-monthly meetings when pertinent problems in the commercial field are discussed. The organization was founded in 1934.

President

ALPHA TAU ALPHA

Alpha Tau Alpha was installed on the University of Wyoming campus in 1949 as an honorary organization for future teachers of vocational agriculture. Since its inception, the A. T. A.'s have sponsored various contests for the Wyoming Future Farmers of America, national agriculture club for high school students. The group meets bi-monthly, where aspiring ag teachers discuss improvement programs, see movies, and listen to speakers. One can probably classify the organization as a success because many former members are now holding fine teaching positions throughout the state. This also speaks highly for the Wyoming agriculture college, recognized as one of the best in the country.

ALPHA ZETA

Scholarship, character, leadership — these are the requisites for becoming a member of Alpha Zeta. This organization is a national agriculture honorary and only those students with top-flight grades can hope to wear the bib overalls with the letters A-Z stamped on them. The AZ's sponsor an annual student-faculty round-table, where problems of a high intellectual level are discussed. They also seek out the brightest Ag Freshman each year and present him with the highly coveted Alpha Zeta key. Alpha Zeta members are proud of their honorary organization, and who wouldn't be proud to belong to such an outstanding group ?

KAPPA DELTA PI

Kappa Delta Pi has held forth on the campus since 1926. This education honorary for Juniors and Seniors strives to promote a greater understanding of the teaching profession. Their standards are high — none but those with top grades may enter into the ranks of KDP. The two main activities which this group sponsors are an annual Christmas party and a banquet in May. Meetings are held regularly throughout the year, where problems pertinent to the profession are discussed by competent speakers.

Big Sisters is an organization of "Good Samaritans." The girls help bewildered freshman coeds find their way about the campus during the hubbub of freshman week. As additional first aid, the Big Sister Chairman resides in Hoyt Hall for six weeks to advise freshmen. The group also takes credit for one of the most outstanding get-togethers of the year — the Coed Ball. At this costume ball, prizes are awarded for the most humorous outfits. Members are chosen by the Dean of Women, after filing applications for membership in the spring.

PHI GAMMA NU

"For Women Only"—and brainy ones—is the watchword of Phi Gamma Nu, national commerce honorary. The future secretaries meet twice monthly and hold an occasional party. Their other activities include helping with the Commerce Carnival, joining the men's honorary Alpha Kappa Psi in a spring banquet, and giving a chili supper for all women commerce majors. No indeed, Phi Gamma Nu is never shorthanded when it comes to activities. Head pencil-pusher is Chiyoko Tanaka; Barbara Coutts is treasurer, Jackie Willis is secretary, and Virgie Rizzi, pledge trainer.

SIGMA PI SIGMA

Sigma Pi Sigma is a national physics honorary which was organized several years ago; however, the local chapter was founded in 1949. Since its recent arrival at Wyoming, the chapter has grown and developed to become a very active group. Regularly scheduled meetings are held when the young scientists discuss the various phenomena of mechanics, heat, electricity, light, sound, and the branches of the sciences devoted to the study of radiations. The group also throws some good chili suppers, picnics, and departmental socials.

President

GAMMA SIGMA EPSILON

The fellows and girls who really know the inside scoop on "cat crackers" and isotopes are the members of Gamma Sigma Epsilon, chemistry honorary. Members of this select group are some of the brainiest people on the campus. In order to qualify for GSE, one must have at least a 1.65 average. The group holds meetings throughout the year with interesting speakers who are full-fledged members of the profession. They also sponsor a picnic every year.

CHI GAMMA IOTA

Chi Gamma Iota is restricted to ex-GI's with the required scholastic average. As the WYO goes to press, it looks as if Chi Gamma may increase if the world conflict continues. The aim of the organization is to encourage the ex-servicemen to excel in their collegiate work.

PHI DELTA KAPPA

The Wyoming Beta Mu chapter of Phi Delta Kappa was installed on the campus in 1948. PDK is a national professional education fraternity open to all promising male education majors. Its standards are high, and its members can well be proud to belong to such an outstanding group.

Iron Skull is a Junior honorary fraternity of 42 members. These high-ranking students are chosen on the bases of scholarship, service, and leadership. They sponsor such outstanding social functions as the Homecoming sing, the Iron Skull Skid, and they play a part in selling tickets for the merchant's carnival. The organization consists of two representatives from each Campus social group. Since the Iron Skull's beginning in 1920, the group has made one major change. It was originally destined to be a men's organization, but now coeds make up a majority of its membership.

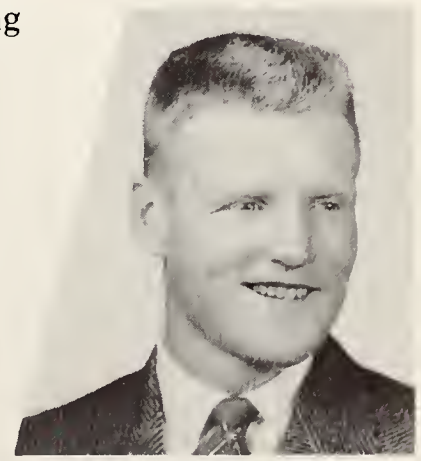
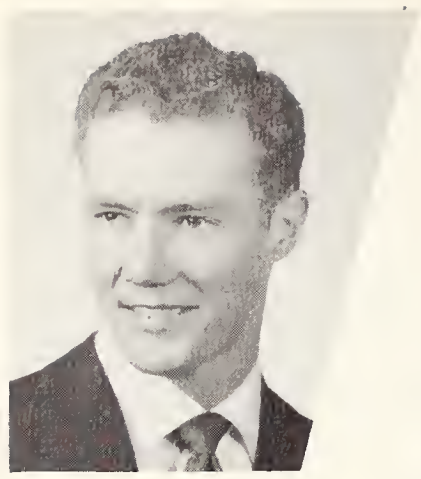
PHI EPSILON KAPPA

Phi Epsilon Kappa is a Professional Physical Education Fraternity. Its goals are to promote better companionship among its members and to stress the great importance of physical education. This group is a recently established honorary and welcomes within its folds only those P. E. students with high scholastic averages. Even though it is a young organization, it has made considerable growth and progress during the past few years. Under the able direction of Bob Mason, Pete Buonomo, Al Manchak, Darrell Howarth, and Bill Baker, it promises to continue growing and prospering.



James Storey
President



Tom Hannum
President

ALPHA EPSILON DELTA

The purposes of Alpha Epsilon Delta, national pre-med honorary fraternity, are twofold. The ultimate goal of the group is to advance scholarship and understanding in pre-medicine; secondly, to advance interest for those who aspire to medical school. Pre-med and medical school students from every state in the country send representatives to the national convention held every two years. The convention will be held this year at the University of Alabama and Wyoming is to be represented. The group sponsors National Health Week on the campus during spring quarter, and also the "Cadaver Crawl" in March. This sounds ominous — perhaps Shakespeare had it in mind when he warned, "Beware the Ides of March"! Tom Hannum is Prexy.

PI DELTA EPSILON

Pi Delta Epsilon, following the code of intellectual honesty, freedom of thought, development of leadership, realization of the importance of the college, accuracy, good taste, and consideration of the reader, is a national honorary journalism fraternity. It's responsible for the Gridiron Banquet, Inkslinger's Ball, and popularity contests that help fill the social calendar every year. The internal function of the fraternity is the attempt to solve problems concerning campus publications. This group also tries to bring to the surface any major campus situations that require collective action for their solution and dissolution.

Mary Breslin
President

John Watts
President

PHI EPSILON PHI

Phi Epsilon Phi is the honorary service organization for sophomore men. These Cheer Boys of Wyoming are chosen on the basis of scholarship and leadership. Their group consists of two representatives from each Greek and Independent group on the campus. The group sponsors a sweater dance each January and crowns the Phi Ep queen. Money received from ticket sales is used to take the queen to one of the Denver University-Wyoming basketball games in Denver. John Watts is President of the pep fraternity; Don Bender, Vice Prexy; Fred Steinhour, Secretary; and Don Joder, Social Chairman.

"W" CLUB

These are the "he-men" of the campus. Through rigid training and hard work, the fellows get letters signifying outstanding ability in major sports. They have what it takes to create champs at Wyoming.

PSI CHI

"Ethical Standards in Psychology" is the subject being discussed this year by Psi Chi, national psychology honorary. Frank Rolich is president of the group which meets monthly.

Donna Zell Willis
President

THETA ALPHA PHI

While the TAP's are usually to be found in front of the footlights, they are also to be found backstage in full force, helping with every student performance. This year the group added one-act plays to their usual list of activities. Twice yearly students outstanding in dramatics are initiated, and regular meetings are held. Awards are presented in the spring to the best actor and actress, the best supporting actor and actress, best technician, and the actor who has made the most improvement. President of the organization is Donna Zell Willis.

ALPHA DELTA THETA

Wielders of the flask and test tube were organized on this campus only last spring. The group is an honorary, requiring a 2.5 average for membership. Besides meeting every other Tuesday to hear speakers and hold discussions concerning medical technology, they have had a Founders' Day banquet and sold Christmas cards this year. President is Aleen Morck; Winona Wagner, vice president; Donna Fuerst, secretary; Lois Willard, treasurer, and Beverly Pewtress, historian.

SIGMA TAU

You have undoubtedly noticed the pyramid lettered ST, in front of the Engineering Building? That, dear reader, is the symbol of Sigma Tau, national engineering honorary, which includes the top third of all engineering students. Their purpose is to recognize scholastic ability and to promote better engineering education, which goals are furthered by presenting an award to the outstanding freshman in Engineering each spring. The group pursues the lighter side of life through a banquet held Winter Quarter and a spring picnic, at which students challenge faculty members to a baseball game. Guy Peverley heads the brain trust, Ken Creek is vice president, Ed Hopka, secretary, and Ron Brownell, treasurer.

This pharmacy honorary is so exclusive that women are not allowed to bring their mortars and pestles and tag along. Only Phi Delta Chi's themselves are allowed as speakers at the meetings which are held every other Wednesday. The pill-rollers hold banquets once per quarter, with representatives of drug companies as guest speakers. Pledging is held each quarter for outstanding students in the College of Pharmacy. Byron Hipps hold forth as prescription prexy.

SPURS

"S for service, P for pep, U for unity, R for rep!" is the cheer heard when members of the Sophomore women's honorary are chosen in the spring. The Spurs are always thought of first when aid is needed for a campus project, and they are always at hand. They help with freshmen orientation, decorate the goal posts at football games, sponsor a sweater dance, and perform a multitude of other services. The 1950 national convention was held on the Laramie campus. President of the group is Nancy Hunter; vice president, Lois Harris; Betty Brettell, secretary; and Marge Blackstone, treasurer. Mary Mortensen is junior advisor.

PHI UPSILON OMICRON

Looking for a wife, fellas? The Phi U's have what it takes, for they compose the top ten per cent of the Home Ec. students. Nor do these gals lack an eye for business. They sell high altitude cook books as their chief money-making project all year long. Every other Wednesday the prospective homemakers congregate to discuss recipes and patterns. They also observe Founders' Day on February 9 with a banquet, and send a delegate to the national convention. Barbara Reeve is head Phi U., Charlotte Williamson is vice president, and May Wuthier is secretary.

FOURTH ESTATE

The word goes 'round that journalists are a trifle tetched, and members of Fourth Estate congregate at intervals to prove it. The organization is open to all journalism students, and meets to discuss timely topics in the news world. Or, more often, just to shoot the breeze. One of the group's most outstanding activities of the year was an election night party in November, awaiting returns over a teletype and a cup of hot coffee. They are under the enthusiastic sponsorship of Wallace Biggs. Russ Patterson is president, Jack Hooten, vice pres., and Carl Kubo, secretary-treas.

AGRICULTURAL ENGINEERS

If the University of Wyoming continues its building program, it will require a whole flock of new architectural engineers to plan the structures. That is what this organization has in mind when it meets regularly to hear speakers in the profession, see movies, and discuss the latest angles in dormitories. The word from the top floor of the Engineering Building is that these young men will be accomplishing great things before long. Don MacDonald is top guy in the club.

STUDENT SENATE

Wyoming University has twenty-four Senators — student, that is. These, with the Student Body President and Student Manager, compose the governing body of student activities. New students become aware of the group's existence soon after arrival, when they are invited to the Freshman Steak Fry by the Senate. The group also brought Skinnay Ennis's band to the campus this fall. Their more serious duties concern administering the student activity fund, which sponsors stock judging teams, debate, women's athletics, and the rodeo. All student activities are kept under close surveillance by the group and its ten sub-committees in meetings held every other Thursday. And before we forget, the Senate is also, according to Pres. Walt Urbigkit, "the proud possessor of 'Cowboy Joe.' "

STUDENT UNION COMMITTEE

This committee, with student and faculty representatives, serves to advise the Director of the Student Union and to establish matters of policy.

STUDENT SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE

It is debatable whether this committee is more like the Democratic or Republican party — do they spend too much money, or don't they spend enough?

ENGINEERING COUNCIL

More Engineers than you can shake a stick at are represented by this group, which coordinates activities of the Mechanical, Civil, Electrical, and Architectural Engineers. No railroad engineers, though. They sponsor the Engineers' Ball, Open House, and a spring picnic. An innovation this year is the choice, by the Council, of the Engineers' Queen from among the three finalists, formerly done by popular vote. Al Vandenberg is chairman of the Council.

A. I. E. E. – I. R. E.

That brilliantly lit "W" above the door of the Engineering Building is, appropriately enough, one of the many projects of the American Society of Electrical Engineers. A. I. E. E., which is open to all students working toward a degree in electrical engineering, was joined last year by the Institute of Radio Engineers. The groups meet every other week to study their profession, besides cooperating with the Engineers' Ball and Open House. They also sent a fine delegation to the conference at Lincoln, Nebraska this spring to compete with other branches of the organization. Chairman is Rudolph Stefoin; Robert Okamoto, A.I.E.E. secretary; Wallace Willhard, I.R.E. secretary, and John Richards, program chairman.

Field trips are prominent among the activities of these budding civil engineers. This year they have visited the regional office of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation at Denver, and visited various Reclamation projects in the vicinity of Laramie. The group is a student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and meets every three weeks for movies or speakers in their field. Allan Kurtz heads the organization, with Bob Grant as vice president and Al Vandenberg, secretary.

RODEO CLUB

The WYO staff has it from a reliable source (namely the President of the aforementioned group) that the Rodeo Club sponsors the best rodeo east of the Laramie River. Besides this major event, the Club also sponsors a small rodeo on the campus at the time of the Square Dance Festival, held at the university early in the fall quarter. The club sends two delegates to the National Collegiate Rodeo Convention each year. Jerry Whitfield is President of the Rodeo Club; Pug Jorgensen, Veep; Velma Champ, Secretary; Mary Ann Read, Treasurer; and Kathleen Hall and Bob Kaufmann are publicity directors.

The Associated Women Students are self-governing in the truest sense of the word. Elected representatives of every group on the campus make up the A W S Council, which establishes standards and regulations for women students. The group also takes responsibility for guiding freshman girls about the campus and letting them know about the aforementioned regulations. Among their other activities are supervising the Co-Ed Ball and bringing such speakers as Emily Kimbrough for AWS assemblies. President Pat Janssen keeps a keen eye on the multitude of details involved.

COLLEGIATE 4-H CLUB

The green four-leaf clover will always mean something special to this group, for they have followed 4-H since their gradeschool days. The aim of Collegiate 4-H is to strive to master homemaking and agriculture. They also aim at service by helping with the State Fair and with Home and Ranch Week at the University. Most of the members help with 4-H groups in their communities during the summer. Bob Waggoner is President; Betty Brettel and Don Legg, Vice-presidents; Don Odegard, Treasurer; and Mary Berry, Secretary.

DANCE GROUP

Directed by Margaret Mains, the dance group hopes to create lasting interest in modern dance through public appearances and assembly programs. An extensive tour of Wyoming towns gained statewide publicity for the group this fall, and it is easy to see that the girls are keeping in "fine shape" through the execution of intricate whirls, twirls, and flip-flops.

POTTER LAW CLUB

Did Margaret Mains kill her husband or didn't she? The Potter Lawyers' Shenannigan of the Year was so realistically staged and publicized that some people are not sure to this day that it was all a practice trial for the law students. The group is also quite active in Homecoming events. It handles the election of the Queen, crowns the Queen, escorts the Queen, takes the Queen on a tour of the state, and fights with the Engineers over custody of the Queen. Charles N. Potter, Wyoming Supreme Court member and jurist, might turn over in his grave at the high-jinx pulled by his namesakes. OUTING CLUB

"Oh, we haven't had any casualties so far this year. There were several sprained ankles on the last ski trip." Yes, indeed, the Outing Club is as rugged as its name implies. Climbing at Happy Jack, hiking, and holding steak fries in the snow complete its schedule of events. The members also enjoy such leisurely pursuits as square dancing after a day's skiing. The club sponsors the popular all-school Snow Ball during Winter quarter. Head Outdoor Man is Dick Pollitz; Vice-president, Walt Stickler; and Secretary-Treasurer, Laura Wenger.

WILDLIFE CONSERVATION CLUB

The name might imply that members of the Wildlife Conservation Club are those students interested in perpetuating parties, but they are not. They are the majors in the professional curriculum of wildlife management, a fertile field in Wyoming. Since its organization in 1946 the club has had as its aim the promotion of interest in the field. As an outside project, they sponsor a turkey shoot in the fall and a fly and bait casting contest in the spring. President and head conservative is Ted Baker.

HOYT HALL

Have you ever had water thrown at you through a transom, or come in at 1:00 a.m. to find your room stacked? If not, you've never lived at Hoyt Hall, home of 150 blooming freshman coeds. Any remaining high spirits are worked off giving parties and working out for intramural sports. Sally Brooder is House President of the lively dorm.

KNIGHT HALL

Just south of Prexy's Pasture, a hop, skip, and jump from the Union, a slightly longer hop from the L. A. building — is Knight Hall, ideally situated for the 130 girls who reside there. And for the boys who stream through its office and gracious lounge. Knight functions as any other organized group on the campus, with queen candidates, Spur, and Iron Skull representatives. This year its candidate, Mary Lou Lessinger, was elected Homecoming Queen, and the girls also won the Independents' trophy in the Homecoming Sing. Much to the chagrin of certain other groups, Knight Hall traditionally walks off with honors in the intramurals, too. Donna MacArthur serves as House President for the lively coeds.

INDEPENDENTS

The music and voices streaming from the Union ballroom on Monday evenings indicate the perpetuation of a fine old American tradition. These people are being Independent. All unaffiliated students are eligible to join the organization, which meets each Monday for its informal dances and movies. They also enter teams in the intramurals and carry on a very active social program in all ways. Sparkplugs of the group are President Marian Chiltan and Sponsor S. H. Harding.

SOUTH WING

Ninety girls live in the new South Wing addition to Knight Hall. Naturally, the place is never dull. Besides having dorm parties, the residents have a special project this year; paying visits to Ivinson Memorial Home. At Christmas they serenaded the Home in a body. President Bea Taylor keeps close watch of her fellow coeds, aided by Marge Lovshe, Secretary; Patty Hageman, Treasurer; and Louise Claar, Vice-president.

PHARMACY CLUB

The College of Pharmacy at Wyoming is only five years old, and one of its proudest achievements is having a junior branch of the American Pharmaceutical Society. This organization really pursues its subject, for one of its main activities is the sponsoring of a trip to the East during spring vacation for all its junior and senior members. This year's trek was to Chicago, where they visited leading pharmacitical houses and heard speakers in the field who gave them all the latest dope on the prescription business. Promoting National Pharmacy Week and entering a float in the Homecoming Parade helped keep them busy the remainder of the year. Marilyn Small is President.

RED PENCIL

Wyoming's thriving College of Education is well represented by Red Pencil, for all interested Education students. One of the group's finest and least known works is the triptych, or nativity scene, which graces the lawn by the library during the Christmas season. Under the guidance of President Bill Sullins, they are conducting a teacher recruiting program among high school seniors throughout the state as a special project this year.

AGRICULTURE CLUB

The eager look you note on these young men's faces is anticipation of the new Ag building. These are the men who will frequent it; these are the Ag majors. In the fall they hold forth in full force with the Little International, modeled after the livestock show of that name. While it is for the primary purpose of giving the youths experience in showing livestock, the whole student body enjoys the many other events. Exhibits, contests in hog-calling, chicken-catching, and riding the bucking barrel, are topped off by a succulent barbecue. The organization also sends livestock judging teams to contests throughout the nation. Guy Brock is Top Farm-Hand.

S. C. R. O.

Two representatives from each religious group on the campus make up the Student Council of Religious Organizations. Purpose of the Council is to coordinate activities of its member clubs and to promote fellowship among them. These aims are furthered by the Student Religious Organizations banquet each quarter and by the sponsorship of Religious Emphasis Week. R. E. Week was under the direction of Nancy Hunter this year, and featured Dr. Eliot Porter. Bruce Shelden is President, Chester Hejde, Vice-President, Mary Jackson, Secretary, and Ronald Willis, Treasurer.

CAMPUS CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The purpose of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship is to "create a fellowship in Christ, together with a spiritual edification of all members." The organization holds daily prayer meetings, Friday night Bible studies, Sunday evening song fests, and good-time parties. Charlie VerStraten is President of the group, Eugene David serves as Vice-President, and the Secretary-Treasurer is Virginia Dornan.

UNITED STUDENT FELLOWSHIP

Kent Mahlman heads this group, composed of students from the Evangelical and Reformed Churches and the Congregational Christian Churches.

CANTERBURY CLUB

As of this spring, the Canterbury Club has a new home in which to carry on its many activities. It provides a fitting background for such gracious customs as a "coffee hour" after church for friends and relatives, and Wednesday morning communion breakfast. One of the group's pet projects is under the direction of Missionary Chairman Jack Monteith. Each Sunday that the roads are passable, several of the members motor to Fox Park to conduct Sunday School and Church services. Presiding over the Canterbury House group is Bob Hall. Vice-President, Mary Jackson; Treasurer, Kathleen Hall; and Secretary, Marilyn Kean.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club, for students of Catholic affiliation, is one of the most active groups on the campus. On Friday nights the Parish Hall re-echoes the fun of their open houses, and the first Sunday of the month is marked by a communion breakfast. This year the chapter plays host to a Province convention, with delegates from schools in Colorado and Utah. They also participate in inter-province bowling tourneys. Highlights of this round of activity are formal initiation banquets in the fall and spring, and the formal Cardinal Ball. These events are all chronicled in the club's monthly newspaper, the Laramie Newmaneer. Charles Viox is President.

ROGER WILLIAMS CLUB

One of the many fine religious groups on the campus is the Roger Williams Club, for students of Baptist affiliation. On Sunday evenings the members enjoy meetings at the Baptist Service Center, with supper, a social hour, and devotions. In the spring they hold a retreat to the mountains to plan the program for the coming year. Mary Lou Lessinger is President, Ken Taylor, Vice-President, and Pansy Stout, Secretary. Charlotte Williamson is Program Chairman.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

That desolate, here-I-am-in-a-strange-place-and-all-alone feeling peculiar to freshmen is readily dissolved for students of Methodist faith. From the first, the Wesley Foundation welcomes them to its Sunday evening supper meetings and frequent parties. Good fellowship is the keynote of all these activities, as well as the fall quarter Freshman Banquet, Spring Banquet, and Spring Formal. Dale Federer is President of the Foundation; Miriam Nauman, Vice-President; Betty Jo Laurin, Sec.; and Chester Hejde, Treas.

WESTMINSTER FOUNDATION

Westminster Foundation is an organization for young people of the Presbyterian faith. This group meets every Sunday afternoon to listen to prominent university or religious speakers. They discuss the topic of the day over a supper prepared by the students, then a social period follows. The Foundation publishes "The Presby Times" for all of the churches in the state and to keep the home folks informed. The organization consists of university students, with Bill Kirby, President, leading the group. Commissioners are Marion Waln, Bonnie Everling, Bob McDill, Ruth Hill, and the SCRO Representative is Dave Clough.

CERATOPSIAN CLUB

No, children, a Ceratopsian is not first cousin to a Crustacean. He is a Geology major at the University of Wyoming. And he is not really crazy, either; he simply enjoys playing with rocks. The purpose of the organization, according to President Wayne Blackman, is to stimulate interest in the field and to promote good relations between students and faculty of the department. The first aim is covered in its regular meetings and field trips, while the second is taken care of at the spring Geology Picnic, at which the two parties square off on the softball diamond. The ground hounds also enjoy participating in the intramurals, and taking honors in the Homecoming Parade.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

This club is open to all students taking Hom Ec. courses. The group sends at least one delegate each year to the National American Home Economics Association convention. This fall the group observed United Nations Day with a tea for foreign students. Money-making project of the year is the Christmas bazaar, where homemade candy, aprons, and hand-made gifts are sold. The Home Ec. Club President is Fern Lupher. Marje Hejde is Vice-President, Bonnie Everling, Secretary, and Ann McFarlane, Treasurer. Miss Myrtle Mainquist is sponsor of the Club.

Mr. Allan Willman
Chairman, Division of Music

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

There are a number of reasons leading us to expect a brilliant future for the Division of Music: the great growth in enrollment during the past ten years (it has quadrupled), the greater amount of publicity being issued, increased number of course offerings, tours, special clinics, and other special services. The Creative Arts Workshop, held each summer, in which the Division of Music takes a prominent part, is becoming widely known throughout the country. Students and music supervisors in the state are looking more and more to the University because of the program in music education. Reports from as far away as California indicate that our program in this field is attracting considerable attention. The University Band is generally considered one of the three best in the western states and its yearly tours carry home to the people of Wyoming audible proof of its high standard of performance.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Many of the young men planning to attend the University of Wyoming might be very much in the dark about the Greeks, were it not for the handbook published by the Inter-Frat Council in the spring. The powerful Council governs Rush Week and coordinates activities of its member fraternities, aiming always at cooperation rather than competition. During spring quarter it sponsors the Inter-Fraternity Ball. Darrell Howarth is President; Bill Brown, Vice-President; and Secretary-Treasurer, John Reesy.

PAN–HELLENIC COUNCIL

Turn six sororities loose, and you're likely to have a problem, but not with the Pan-Hellenic Council coordinating them. The Council, with two representatives from each sorority, serves as arbitrator, legislator, and traffic director for Rush Week and the many other Sorority functions. The group also sponsors and arranges Open Houses given for fraternities in the fall, and the Pan-Hellenic dance for all sorority girls on the campus. Its spring activity is the Honors Dessert, feting the two girls in each class who have the highest scholastic averages. Rita Jeanne Phillips is President, Raye Rita Taggart, Secretary, and Mrs. Everett Lantz, Alumnae Advisor.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Girls have worn the "sacred lyre of the angels" on this campus since 1930, when Beta Kappa chapter of Alpha Chi Omega was introduced here. Their Italian stucco home on the corner of 13th and Grand is dearly beloved, but the girls forsake it willingly each spring for their slumber party at Libby Lodge, held in honor of pledges and new initiates. Some of the most outstanding Alpha Chi's are: Loma Jane Lehner, sorority president, member of WAA, Red Pencil, and Canterbury Club; Iron Skull members Rae Forman and Dede Pence; Student Senator Betty Wolfe; Spurs Beverly Julian and Dorothy Cooper; and Cheerleader Pudge Henderson.

Scholarship and sincerity are watch-words for the thirty-eight young ladies who sport the pearls of Chi Omega at Wyoming. Their pursuit of the admirable things in life includes such projects as sponsoring Ingeborg Best, foreign student from Weisenbaden, Germany, and giving Christmas gifts to underprivileged children around Laramie. Some of the more prominent Chi O's are: Miriam Pietala, Mortar Board, student senate, Phi Upsilon Omicron; Lois Mottonen, chapter President, Phi Gamma Nu; Theo Vozakis, student senate, Orchesis, Epsilon Psi; Janet Lynch, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Pi Delta Epsilon, and Theta Alpha Phi; and Barbara Coutts, Iron Skull and Phi Gamma Nu. Service and sincere friendliness are outstanding attributes of the girls who call the rambling house on 6th and Grand "home." Since 1914, when Rho chapter was established here, KD's have upheld the ideals of truth, honor, and duty in all their activities. They are proud of such campus leaders as President Pat Janssen, Mortar Board, AWS President, Psi Chi, and Who's Who; Mary Mortensen, Spur Junior Advisor, Iron Skull, Phi Sigma Iota, AWS, and Who's Who; Rita Jean Phillips, Mortar Board and Pan-Hellenic Council President; Hortense Burton, outstanding Home Ec. student who recently returned from a 4-H tour of Finland and Europe; Margaret Murray, AWS Treasurer; Jackie Janssen, WYO Organizations Editor and Spur; and Virginia Evans, WYO Copy Editor and Phi Sigma Iota. KD also topped the sororities in the 1950 Varsity Show.

The girls who wear the golden key have been unlocking the door to campus fame since their arrival in 1927. Dr. Clara McIntyre was one of the first members of Gamma Omega of Kappa Kappa Gamma. 1950 achievements of which they are especially proud are the Grand Prize of the Varsity Show, and an award for the most original house decoration at Homecoming. Some prominent Kappas are: President Pat Dinneen, Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board President, and Who's Who; Norma Bell, Miss Frontier Days of 1949, Queen of the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville; Laura Bailey, to be 1951 Frontier Queen; and Nancy Hunter, President of the Spurs. The gracious Kappa house is the scene of many social functions such as a Mothers' Day tea and a Homecoming open house.

ΠΒΦ

Since Wyoming Alpha of Pi Beta Phi was installed in 1910 as the first sorority on this campus, it has striven to be first in all things. In doing so it upholds three main ideals — companionship, uprightness, and scholarship. Pi Phis who are outstanding in these endeavors are: Lindy Lou Storey, Mortar Board and Who's Who; Donna Zell Willis, University theater star and Who's Who; Student Senator Mary Helen Young; Ruth Irvin, members of AWS and Pan-Hellenic boards; Patty Hunton, theater star; Joan Lund, Cadet Colonel and outstanding twirler; and Queens Barbara Bourne and Janice Lehan. All the girls who wear the golden arrow have spent the year cherishing the scholarship cup they won in 1950. The stone mansion on Sorority Circle houses its girls proudly.

A 20-year old campus tradition is represented by the Varsity Villagers, organized by and for girls who live in town and are unaffiliated. President Mary McAuley sees that it offers plenty of social activity for them, too.

L D S is unique among fraternities in that it works with an inter-chapter group of men and women. The Alpha-men's, and Omega-women's chapters combine to form Beta chapter. This arrangement enables them to carry out mutually a rich variety of social, intellectual, and religious activities. It is a democratic organization with membership open to anyone willing to further its aims and ideals. Lambda Delt is known especially for its many social activities which take place in the gracious L D S Institute on 12th and Grand. These include a formal dance each quarter, and selection of the L D S Sweetheart and Preferred Man. Alpha Chapter is particularly proud of its case full of trophies won in intramural sports.

In accordance with the purpose of the Master Masons who founded Acacia, Wyoming chapter has maintained high scholarship at the University of Wyoming. It won the Inter-Fraternity Scholarship Cup in both the '48-'49 and '49-'50 academic years. The local chapter also ranks first nationally, having won the Acacia National Scholarship Cup last year. Acacia has placed men in nearly all the honoraries on the campus, and numbers among its members several of the University faculty. Some of Acacia's important social activities are: a pledge dance in the fall; the traditional "Night on the Nile" dance in the winter; and the Anniversary formal in the spring.

The world is in a state of unrest at present. The University proceeded at a high-pressured rate for four years and then, when things were getting back to normal, the lid blew off again. Already ATO has felt the loss of Martin Markley, Bill West, Bruce Lien, and Cal Queal to the services and many more are due to leave in the near future. Fraternities and other men's organizations and activities on campuses everywhere will be depleted of exuberant youth. But they will return, for the most part, in a matter of months or years — a little older, a little wiser — to take their place in the campus and fraternal societies to further their aims and achievements. Wherever these men may travel, whether they be members of our fraternity, or another, or perhaps an independent campus association, they will be on our minds and we wish them "Good Luck."

A conservative and universally respected group is Beta Theta Alpha, recognized as an independent organization on the campus since 1946. The Betas number such outstanding leaders as Frank Rolich, President of Psi Chi; Charles Viox, President of Newman Club; Paul Hallowell, Vice President of Alpha Kappa Psi; Bill Sikora, Secretary of Sigma Tau; and Peter Buonomo, Secretary of Phi Epsilon Kappa. The versatile Betas' latest achievement was winning the award for most humorous house decoration during Homecoming, 1950.

The stone mansion on Frat Row had witnessed twenty-six departures for armed service by February of this year, but was still carrying on with such campus leaders as: Tom Hannum, President of Alpha Epsilon Delta, Student Senator Tom Trowbridge, University theater star Paul Brebrick, Intramural boxing champ Tom Miller, Snipe stand-by Paul Newton, and Bud and Bob Skinner, top-notch skiers. The Kappa Sigs are also known for two special social events. In December is the Lower Slobbovian Stomp, strictly from Al Capp, where anything goes. The Kappa Sigma Dream Girl, chosen by Hoagy Carmichael, is crowned in the exquisite setting of the Spring Formal. The jeweled crescent and star has stood for activity on the campus since it arrived in 1921.

On October 22, 1950, Farmhouse, which had been started as a club on the campus in 1948, was officially installed as a chapter of the national Farmhouse fraternity. It became the tenth chapter of the organization, most of which are at major agricultural schools in the Midwest, since its founding at the University of Missouri in 1905. Farmhouse is a senior member of the National Inter-Fraternity Conference, and has always been outstanding in scholarship. Local members are active in the Ag Club, Alpha Zeta, judging teams, and sports. Two of the most outstanding are Chapter President Frank Knittle, Who's Who, and Laverne Powell, student senator and Who's Who.

As of winter quarter, 1951, the sign before the house on 9th and University no longer read "Phi Kappa Colony," for the group had been chartered as Alpha Zeta chapter of Phi Kappa fraternity. It was a proud day for the band who had met just two years ago with Andy McFarland, a transfer student from the University of Wisconsin, and took the first steps in organizing the chapter. Phi Kap, a social fraternity of Catholic men, has already taken its place in campus activities, with its Winter Waltz, Founders' Day formal, house parties, and a now-traditional Acacia-Phi Kap baseball rivalry.

A beautiful sight, we're happy tonight . . . .

Since it came to Wyoming in 1930, Sigma Chi has been at the fore in all-school projects. Their latest is the Sigma Chi Derby, started in the spring of 1950, which they plan to make a traditional event. All sororities and girls' dorms are invited to enter participants in contests of skill and fun. Already firmly established in campus tradition are the Baby Bawl, Costume Ball, and Sweetheart Ball, where the "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" is chosen. Prominent Sigs include: Who's Who-er Rodney Ramsey, Phi Ep Prexy John Watts, Student Senator Dave Young, and Jay Smith, holder of national records on the rifle team.

An ideal, as described by Webster, is "a standard of perfection, beauty, or excellence." To some, an ideal may be just one of these components, but to Sigma Phi Epsilon it is all three. Their fraternial ideals are guideposts by which they can achieve the maximum of perfection, beauty, and excellence. Members outstanding in pursuing these goals are: Jack Reesy, chapter President and Secretary-Treasurer of Inter-Frat Council; Don Babbitt, student senator and Who's Who; Russ Patterson, Wyo editor, Captain of Scabbard and Blade, and Who's Who; and John McLellan, outstanding skier. Under the heading of "beauty" is the Queen of Hearts Dance held spring quarter. Incidentally, the Sig Ep house is quite favorably situated in near proximity to three abodes on Sorority Circle. Their observatory is available on week nights — for a nominal sum.

Although this is only their third year on the campus, the Tekes are making a name for themselves in activities. Their French Cabaret Dance is becoming one of the most popular fall events, while the ambitious group joined all the other chapters in the Rocky Mountain region at the University of Denver for their Spring Formal. BRANDING IRON

In the basement of the Student Union, along Publications Row, the first office houses the BI. On Tuesdays and Wednesdays this creates somewhat of a traffic problem, when a corps of eager reporters pours in with news from everywhere from Frat Row to the Bureau of Mines for the regular Thursday publication. The BI is perused with approval and occasional indignation, but never with disinterest, for it is packed with information vital to the students and is the dynamic and vigorous product of youth. This year, however, operating under a Publications Committee policy statement, the BI has tended towards a greater sense of editorial responsibility than in the past. According to Editor Don Thompson, "the aim is primarily to reflect and guide student opinion and to maintain high journalistic standards."

SNIPE

Snipe is the University's humor magazine, which has, in the past two years of its existence, been trying to find some literary alley on which to make its standard policy. The alleys thus far travelled, have, for the Board of Trustees, had too many garbage cans; for the students, a portion, there have been no cans at all; another portion believes that the cans are there, but with no contents. One of these days, there will be found an alley, nice clean cans, and the right amount of garbage. The present staff has tried and the right direction is believed to have been found. Maps, weather reports, etc., will be handed down to the heirs of Snipe . . . if any.

1951 WYO

In case some of you have not figured out the theme of this year's WYO, let us explain. It started out to be New Frontiers, but after about ten pages we dropped that and decided upon a free-for-all. The staff greeted this with as much enthusiasm as they did Frontiers. There was a high mortality rate on sub-editors, but no one committed suicide worrying about deadlines except Kubo, the Assistant Editor, who bribed, begged, and pleaded with Patterson to lend a helping hand. The only satisfaction Carl ever got was a flat "no." Toward the end of the year, the question of survival was simplified when someone found that a cup of coffee and a donut could keep a staff member alive indefinitely if the door and windows were hermetically sealed. The WYO grew a little again, and the Editor went over his budget again, but we feel that our work was not in vain. (We have to have two years in publications anyway.) All editors and staff really did work toward one big goal — to make the '51 WYO a better annual for the students. If we failed, talk to Joe, for he did his best to undermine morale, deplete the staff, and raise the price of coffee. The year's over, the WYO's out, and our poor Editor's got the gout.

JOURNALISM ADVISORS

W. R. BIGGS

The little man who reigns benevolently and firmly over the zany journalistic colony at Wyoming University can usually be found chewing a wad of gum. This may or may not be indicative of something, but Wallace Biggs is also the man responsible for the tremendous growth of the Journalism Department in recent years. Courses offered have been expanded from 52 to 74 hours, the laboratory has been enlarged, and teletype and photographic facilities have been added, as well as a great deal of prestige. Biggs holds an M.A. from Washington U. in St. Louis, and an M.S. from Northwestern U. in Chicago.

G. W. HOLBORN

Any time you walked into the Journalism lab you were likely to hear a soft voice with British inflection holding forth about the good old days on the Peoria "Journal-Transcript," where Gerd Holborn was copy desk and telegraph editor before joining our august faculty. Past tense, because Gerd left spring quarter for England, with his British war-bride, whom he brought here in 1946 after serving with the Army Air Corps. Holborn, a graduate of Syracuse University, will be sincerely missed by all the students he has guided through the basic journalism courses.

SPORTS

UNDEFEATED CHAMPIONS

Eddie Talboom, All American

Talboom's Toe has become as famous as Achille's Heel at Wyoming. That ball looks blocked, but note just above the tubas in the band.

Bowden Wyatt, Head Coach

A former Tennessee all-American end, Bowden Wyatt took the Wyoming reins in the fall of 1947, guided the lusterless Cowboys up the right trail from the start. His first two years showed what was in the offing for Wyoming football, and the last two produced conference championships for the likable Cowboy head wrangler.

FOOTBALL

Wyoming's 1950 football season marked one of the most brilliant chapters in the university's sports history, the power-laden Cowboys going through a spectacular undefeated year. Twenty seniors, seven backs and 14 linemen, carried a great deal of the load in the school's greatest year on the gridiron. Fearless Eddie Talboom for the third time led the conference in scoring by marking up 130 points. During the regular season, Ed also compiled the amazing total of 40 PAT's (out of 45 attempts). Sophomore Harry Geldien gained the most yards rushing — 478, Wingback Vern Gale led in yards gained per rushing try with a 6.5 average. Dewey McConnell, selected by opposing coaches as the team's most valuable player, snagged 24 passes and Royal McMullen, who played a major role in Wyoming's win over Baylor, compiled the best punting average — 43.4 yards.

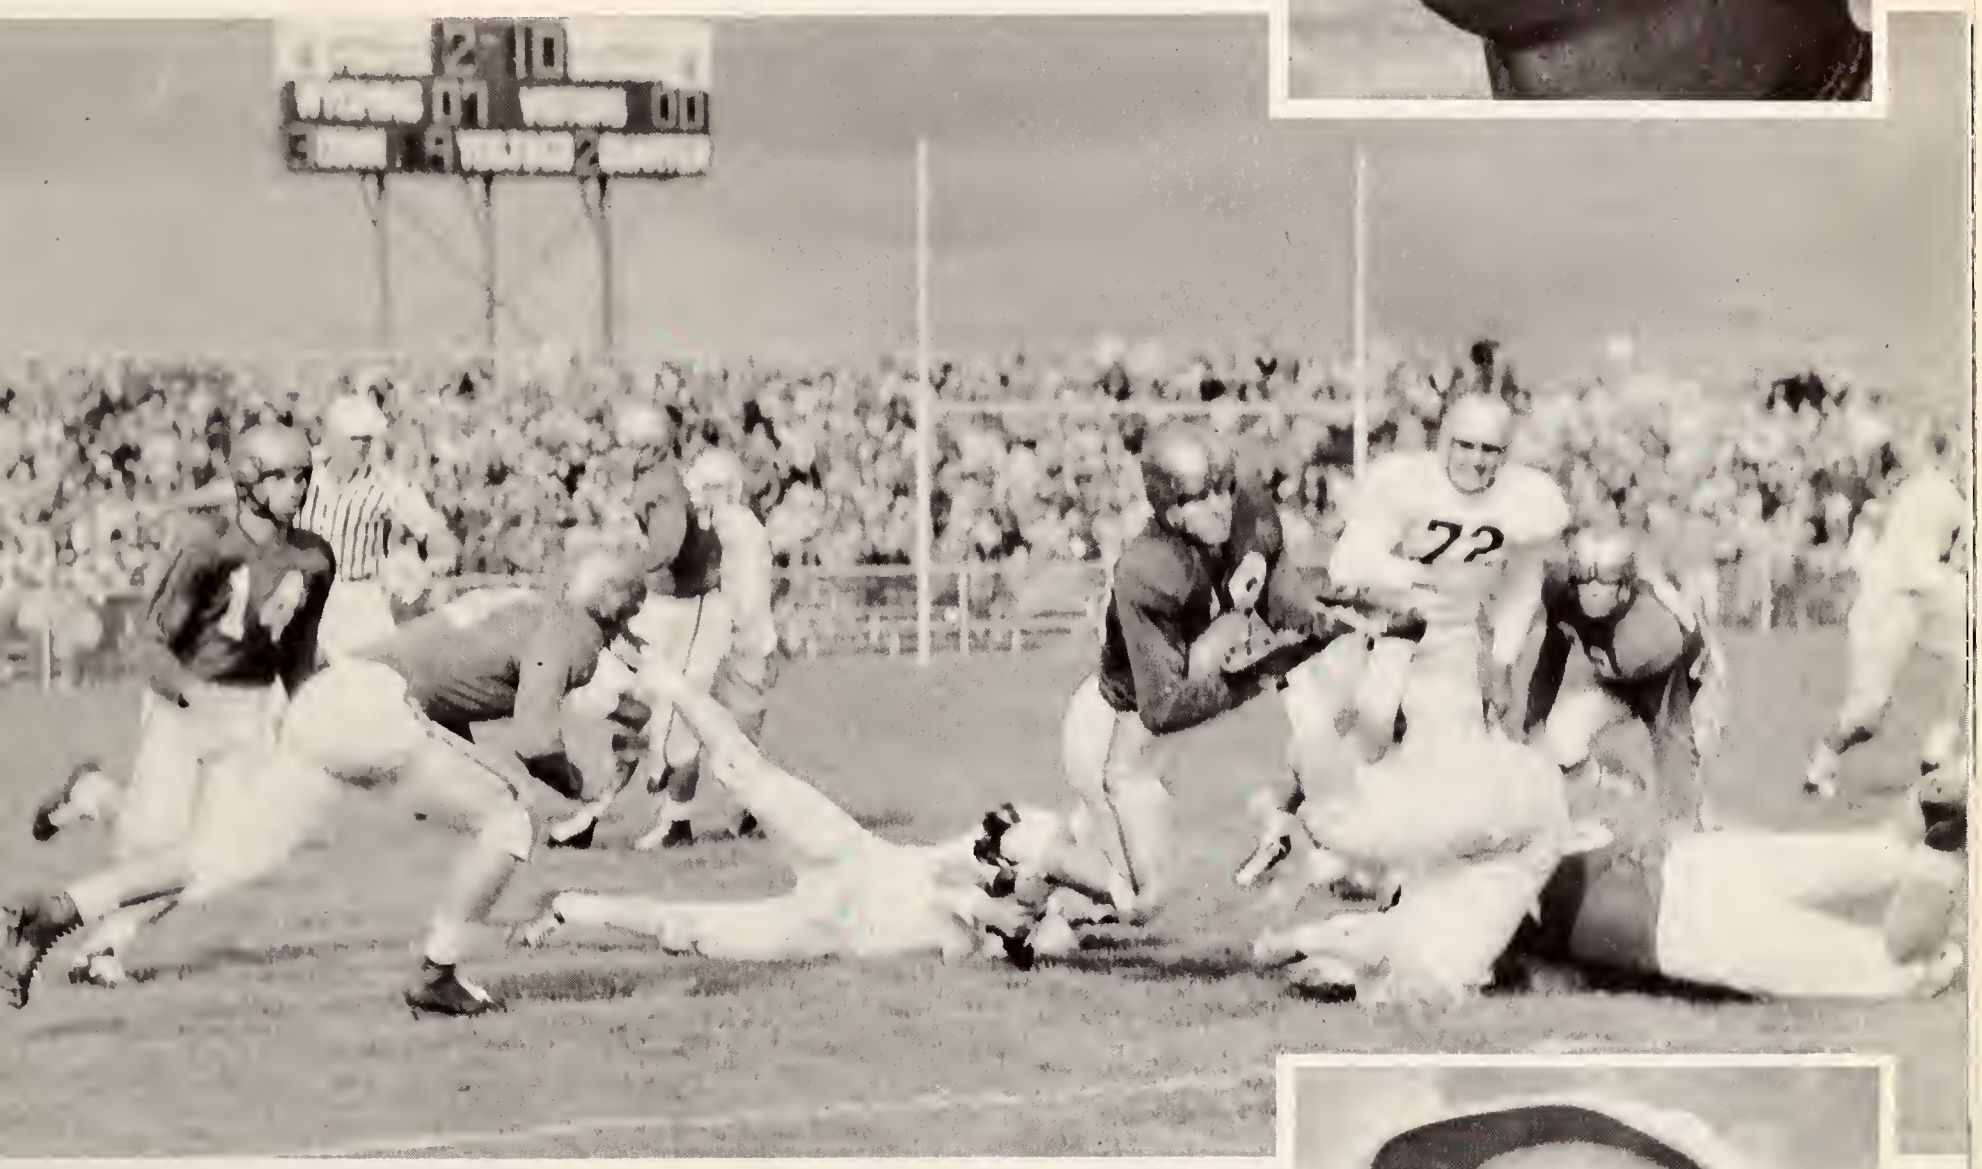
George Cafego spends much of his time with Cowboy tailbacks, the key men in the Pokes' hard-hitting single wing attack. George was a former Tennessee Vol tailback himself, performing for Coach Bob Neyland in '37, '38, and '39, and in his junior and senior years was an all-America choice on most selections. He played professional football for Brooklyn, Washington, and Boston before entering the coaching ranks.



An unidentified Baylor ball carrier is shoe-stringed by a Cowboy. Bob Schildgen (72) and Vern Gale (14) come up on the play.

Backfield Coach Leonard Coffman, a Tennessee teammate of Coaches Bailey and Wyatt, joined the Cowboy coaching staff in 1946. He was an all-Southern fullback in 1939, went into service in 1942, and was released four years later as a major. A keen student of football, Coffman coaches like he played — hard. He was an assistant coach to Tennessee's Bob Neyland following graduation.

Dick Hitt is largely responsible for Wyoming's rock-ribbed forward walls. He, like Wyatt, served as an assistant coach at Mississippi State before coming to Wyoming in 1947. Coach Hitt is also the Cowboys' track coach, and, as in football, stresses conditioning of his trackmen very strongly. A graduate of Mississippi College, Hitt was a 16-letterman athlete.

Royal McMullen takes off on a jaunt against Baylor — one of the many that the Bears had to try and stop the afternoon of September 23rd. Mac played havoc with the hopes that Baylor had of downing the Cowboys for the second year running, practically whipping the Bears single handedly. The next week Mac was through for most of the year — out with a broken collar bone.

Freshman gridders don't suffer from lack of work under the guidance of John Bailey, the fellow who gets the first look at Wyoming's footballers. John ably gives the yearlings a taste of what is to come as they move up to varsity status. He is a Tennessee graduate and played a lot of football for the Vols as a blocking back. Bailey came to Wyoming in March, 1947.

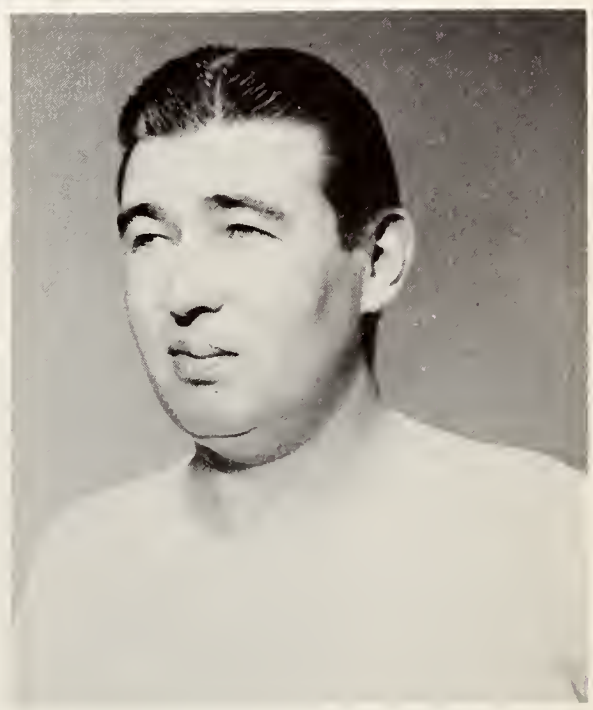
Athletic Director Glenn (Red) Jacoby came to Wyoming five years ago and since his arrival has played a prominent role in the construction of the university's new field house and football stadium. He graduated from Idaho university in 1928, where he lettered three years in football, basketball, and track. He served five years in the Army and participated in the Phillippine and Okinawa campaigns. A very capable administrator, Jacoby has shown that he is very interested in keeping Wyoming on the athletic map of the United States.

Eddie Talboom has just crossed the goal line against Washington & Lee for one of Wyoming's three touchdowns. Ed scored four minutes before the first half ended on a try through right guard from two yards out.



Progressive techniques in athletic training hit the Wyoming campus with gusto when Fred Peterson arrived to take the job. A former trainer with the Chicago Blackhawks hockey team and Ohio Wesleyan University, Fred came here in 1946. A trackman under Glenn Cunningham at Cornell College, Fred slanted his interest toward the training field while an undergraduate. He has been very instrumental in building up training facilities on the Cowboy campus.

BASKETBALL

Dick Haag

Everett F. Shelton, Coach

When sports fans in the Rockies think of basketball most of them think of Everett Shelton. Dapper Ev took over as Cowboy mentor in the 1939-40 compaign and under his guidance the Cowboys have won five conference championships and this year ran second only to B. Y. U. A graduate of Phillips university, Shelton was a four-year letterman in football, basketball, and baseball. Before turning to collegiate cage wars, Ev coached several amateur fives and with them, too, compiled standout records.

BASKETBALL

It wasn't a bright prospect seasonwise that faced Wyoming's young and inexperienced cagers last December, what with last year's first six men not returning. But with will and determination the Cowpokes got off to a blazing start, winning their first twelve games of the season, including contests at Denver's annual pre-season tourney. The Cowboys came out on top of the heap in the tournament, and Moe Radovich, Dick Haag and Ed Varden were named to the all-tourney team.

BYU ended the Pokes streak in Wyoming's conference opener.

What were some of the other high points of the season? Well, the Pokes went down to the wire in the conference season; Moe Radovich showed that he's one of the most capable floor leaders ever to play for Wyoming; Tuff Samuelson, when he wasn't knockin' 'em dead with his push shots from the corners, was squeezing the life out of 'em with his defense; Dick Haag grabbed anything and everything off the back boards; Leroy Esau proved to be as quick as a cat when it came to ball stealing; Bob Burns, if he couldn't out-jump 'em, he out-ran 'em; Ed Varden burned the nets with his set shooting; the officials couldn't keep their whims from operating against John Hughes — and Ev Shelton? . . . He lived and died with each point his Pokes made — or missed.

Dick Haag goes head and shoulders (and finger-tips) above Colorado to tip one in.

Bob Burns comes close to getting his feet tangled in the net — he's not far from being that high.

Radovich hooks up a lefthander and there's not much that Colorado can do about it, since Moe often left 'em flatfooted like that.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Wyoming's freshman basketball team, under the guidance of former Cowboy varsityman Jim Storey, finished the season with a win-loss record of 9-5. The frosh, exhibiting quite a bit of all-around power, showed that they will be able to add strength to the Cowboy quintet next season. Nick Eliopulos, former Rawlins flash, led the young Cowboys in scoring, big George Shyneovich directed play, and steady Dan Blevins was a real workhorse under the boards. Bob Cates and Charley Wing proved to be the yearlings' set shot artists, consistently splitting the nets with long ones.

Veteran Coach Everett Lantz started coaching at Wyoming in 1936, a year after his graduation from the Cowboy school. His teams were always strong but until 1950 could land no higher in the conference than second. In '50, his power-laden mat team cleaned up, likewise at the '51 conference meet — two consecutive Skyline championships.

Bob Schildgen
Heavy weight class

Although the Cowboy wrestling team didn't come through with the same number of individual conference champions this year that they had last year, they still retain the conference championship as a team. George Kelly retained his title in the 123 pound class, as did Frank Stray in the 157 pound class. That promising group of men of last year came through in fine shape at the conference meet in Logan, Utah in March with a well rounded score of 36 total points with Colorado A & M pushing with a close total of 33 points and D. U. with 30 points. Last year's champion Bob Mason had bad luck with Jones from Colorado A & M who beat him out of the top spot by 1 point. D. Robison took a third place, with Ballinger, Farr, Mason, and Schildgen taking second places and bringing the team points in for a conference championship.

Louis Holland
Candidate for Pan American Olympics

Bob Mason

Dale Federer

SWIMMING

Coach Jim Nolan was an outstanding Wyoming free-styler — in fact, all-around swimmer before taking the reins of the Wyoming tank team this year. He was considered to be just as outstanding as a mentor, and guided his inexperienced crew to fourth place in the conference this year.

Coached by a former Wyoming star, Jim Nolan, the Puncher swimming team won one meet and lost five meets. Cowboys Chuck Behney and Bob Blessing were consistently tough throughout the year, Behney as a back stroker and Blessing as a breast stroker, while Dan Holub set a new conference record in free styling at the Skyline meet.

Leonard Brumm came to Wyoming from Michigan, where he was an outstanding hockey player for the Wolverines. Faced with the age-old problem of having little or no ice most of the season, Brumm turned in a remarkable job. Injuries during the season, as usual in hockey, came in no small quantity for Brumm and his icers.

With a new coach and a team that showed a lot of spirit and aggressiveness, Wyoming put on ice a team that should be hard to beat next year. With only four men held over from last year, and some new boys that have played a lot of hockey in all parts of the U. S. and Canada, Coach Brumm's six molded four wins in the seasonal play and dropped eight. Sam Incontro handled the cage with determination while his team mates, Crowley, McGinn, Kolkind, and Fleischmann kept things on ice out in front. Barring too serious a draft loss, and the Gem City turning into a Banana Belt as it has on several occasions during the hockey season, the Puncher pucksters should see a fine season next year. At the time of writing, which is early in March and like a lamb so far, it looks as though hockey has once more seen a windy season at good old Wyoming U.

GOLF

Coach Jack Alford is entering his third year as Wyoming's link mentor, and indeed, 1951 may not be an easy one, since the entire team of last year was lost through graduation. Alford also heads the university's correspondence study department.

As with all varsity sports at the University of Wyoming, the golf team held its own in advancement in Conference and regional standings. Finishing third in the Skyline Conference, the Cowboy linksters also placed second in the Colorado Springs meet, and fourth in the conference mid-season meet. Ed Collins topped the average in the long driving contest and garnered 314 yards to place second in the single drive contest. Team captain Leo Kottke placed a close third place in the single drive contest with 309 yards. With some new material in "Hole in One" Ron Kirk of Enfield, Illinois, the Country Club athletes should have a sparkling future.

SKIING

Bud Skinner, one of the "Skiing Skinners" from Pinedale, led Wyoming's slatmen during the 1951 season and turned in a job well-done. Like the golf picture at Wyoming, skiing had to start almost from scratch this year, since most of last year's slopemen were taken by graduation.

The ski team, with only one of the Skinner boys back this year, and some new promising material, garnered sixth place in the Skyline Conference this year. Under the inspiring guidance of Coach Bud Skinner the men on the hickories worked hard and diligently and showed great improvement toward the end of the season. Newcomers to the team this year are Billy McCalla, Howie Walgren, Sam Taylor and Swede Benson, who all proved themselves quite able to handle any slope at the Libby Creek area. Bob Skinner, who at writing time has his eyes on the slalom team in the Olympics, is the high point man for the Punchers. With most of this year's squad returning next year, "shoosing" prospects are quite bright.

Wiles Hallock serves as assistant track coach under head man Dick Hitt, football line coach, and Wiles is one busy guy come track season. In addition to his time spent with the cindermen, Hallock must also stay on the job as Wyoming's very capable athletic publicity director. Wiles was a former track standout at Denver University and served as sports director for Laramie radio station K O W B before taking his present job.

Though small in numbers, as you can see on the opposite page, Wyoming's track team had quality and perseverance to see them through a mighty tough schedule. Through such old hands as Mickey Dunn, George Goble, Bruce Badley, Dan Wincovitch, and Bill Welty, the Pokes' cinder-beaters managed four wins and seven losses in conference meets. With all of these men back this year and the fine assistance of Coaches Hitt and Hallock, the Cowboys should find even a better rating awaiting them. The newcomers on the team are Tom Hurst of Sheridan, Wyoming, who shows great promise in the distance events, and Bob Anderson, pushing Mickey Dunn for the sprinting berth.

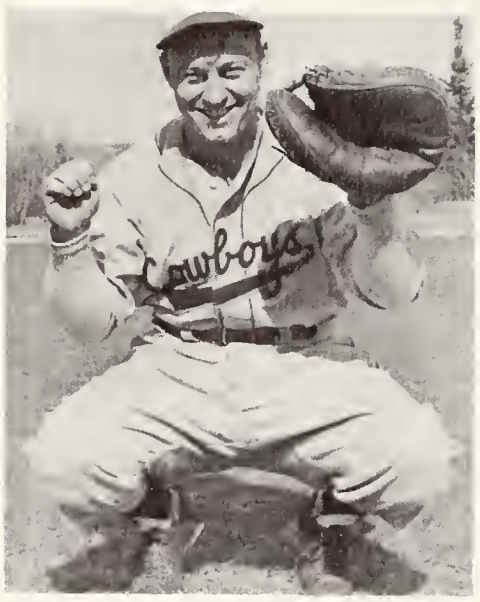
Left: Ben Poreda and Dan DiDomenico don't make much use of the baton — they spend most of their time in the distance events.

Right: Mickey Dunn, sprinter, hurdler, broad jumper, high jumper, relay anchor man — well, often referred to as Wyoming's one-man track team.



BASEBALL

Glenn (Bud) Daniel assists Head Coach George Cafego as baseball coach in addition to his duties as the Wyoming athletic business manager. Bud was a former Cowboy diamond great himself, working for three seasons, '46, '47, and '48 as the Pokes' mitt and mask man.

Coach George Cafego's 1950 diamond crew, while finishing in second place in the Skyline Conference's Eastern division, showed very well in its battles against most opposition — even the weather, which provided some of its toughest competition throughout the season. Pitchers Bob McFarlane and John Copenhaver were the Cowboy big gunners on the mound and Southpaws Vaughn Hilpp and Ron Yoxey were able to give them able help. Ed Reasoner and Porky Caudillo also boosted the hurlers along. Big John Kosich, like a boulder behind the plate, was one of the top Poke clouters, and was equalled in his heavy stick work by such thumpers as First Baseman Keith Bloom, Shortstop Jack Troseth, Third Sacker George Simms, Wyoming's unanimous all-conference at the hot turn, and Ed Varden, speedy second baseman-outfielder. Bill Kunkel, Tom Bournellis and Bob Allen rounded out the Poke squad, one of the top diamond aggregations Wyoming has seen.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

WRESTLING

Intramurals started off with a bang this year with nearly all of the fraternities fielding teams in touch football. The Sig Alphs led off by winning the touch football crown from the ATO's, last year's champions. Then came swimming which the Phi Delts won hands down. They presented a team that broke three intramural records in the tank and at the same time forged ahead for the honors in the intramural cup race.

Intramural wrestling is always one big pain to all of the fraternities because of the team point requirement. This year the Sigma Nus won the wrestling crown with one first place, three second places, and a fourth place. Following the Nu-ers came the Sig Alphs with second place and the ATO's finishing in third place.

GRRRRRRRRHHHHH!!!!!

TRACK

As the intramurals progressed from football, wrestling, and swimming in the fall quarter, things began to take shape in the total standings. At the end of fall quarter the Sig Alphs were leading the race with a total of 55 points and the ATO's pushing with 53 points, Sigma Nu, 46½ points and the Phi Delts, 38½ points.

Noodles Nelson (ATO) makes a try for the pit.

Tope skims over a high one (he knocked it down).

Skip Fraser — one of the top intramural performers.

Many varsity track men develop from the intramural meet in the spring, as this, too, requires workouts and team points. The men are usually in good shape for this event (Ha!) as the trailing groups in the league are making noble attempts to win that beloved rushing trophy. The ATO's came out victors in the track meet last year with the Sig Alphs second and Sigma Nu third.

BOXING

Intramural boxing ended the winter quarter intramural activity and at that point the powerful ATO athletes were leading the pack in the fraternity loop and LDS was leading in the independent league. ATO had piled up a total of 126 points and were followed by the SAE's with 109½ points. Sigma Nu came next with 105 points, barely leading the Phi Delts who had 104½ markers. LDS had compiled 86 tallies, Red Pencil 60, Farm House 43 and ISA 37.

In boxing, a hard-punching ATO team emerged victorious and had three champions to go along with their first place trophy. The SAE crew was second and claimed two champs in the ring. The Phi Delts came in third. Some of the outstanding punchers of the tourney were Dick Leedy, 135-pounder, Tom Miller, 145-pounder, and Bob Benson, 165-pound scrapper.

Smack in the kisser this time — smack, that is.

Miller steps back from a hopeful haymaker and gets in a good grin with the mouthpiece.

BASKETBALL

This section on Intramurals pictures a small part of the extensive intramural program carried on at the University. Other sports that the independents and fraternities compete in are tennis, horseshoes, ping-pong, and bowling. The women also have an intramural league in which they compete in basketball, baseball, and volleyball.

It's hell on the Half Acre.

Flashy George Collins prepares to take a rebound.

Some more hell on the half acre!!!!

The basketball tournament this year was one of the better tourneys of the past few years. The Sig Alphs unseated the ATO's champions of last year, to win the title this year. The ATO's, however, copped a second place with the Sigma Nu's again placing third. The tournament was based on double elimination in both the fraternity and independent leagues. The Red Pencil club was crowned independent kings of basketball but the Sig Alphs won the all campus championship by defeating the Red Pencil club 39-32.

BASEBALL

The final sport of the intramural program each spring is baseball, which last year was run off on a round robin basis. The ATO nine came out on top of the heap in the fraternity league and were followed in the standings by a smooth Sig Ep team. In the independent league, the Red Pencil crew won first and LDS came out a close second.

One of the greatest honors won on the campus is that of being listed in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," for it is indicative of being a real "wheel" on the campus. The 29 Wyoming U. students listed this year include leaders in student government, members of honoraries and service organizations, honor students, and officers of organizations. Students thus recognized must be officially recommended by the University on the basis of "high scholastic records, leadership, participation in extracurricular and academic activities, citizenship, service to the University, and promise of future usefulness."

One of the most popular indoor sports locally is baiting the foreign students. Soon after arrival they are introduced to the joys of "snowing" and "bird-dogging," usually at the expense of painful hours of teasing. By the end of the year they have their American contemporaries on the run, and have certainly fulfilled their promise of being the cream of the crop.

Pi Beta Phi, first place winners among sorority group at Homecoming sing.

For the two days of Homecoming festivity, the "old grad" reigns supreme. All Laramie and the University of Wyoming go all out to entertain him. The Potter Law Club crowns its Queen, after a small war with the Engineers for custody of the lady, Iron Skull sponsors the Homecoming Sing and Iron Skull Skid dance, and nearly every organized group on the campus prepares floats for the parade and house decorations. The football team even plays a game.

RIGHT: The Kappa's really cleaned up with their house decoration — first place for most original.

It is a matter of continual wonder to many, how students can change so quickly from Preparation Fatigue to rip-roaring enthusiasm for Homecoming, but every year it happens. For the winners it is well worth the work. Tops in the Homecoming Sing were Knight Hall, Sigma Nu, and Pi Phi. Prizes for parade floats went to Tri-Delt, Sig Ep, and SAE, while ATO, Kappa, and Beta won honors for house decorations. Incidentally, Wyoming won the game.

SWAN SONG

Another year has rolled around or possibly I should say, "pushed around." The desks are clear, the 1951 WYO is completed. I believe I can honestly say for the WYO Staff that it has been a pleasure, regardless of the days, week, and months spent fighting to get materials for the annual. It isn't a job done over night or by one person. It takes the time, sweat, and effort of many to accomplish the purpose. Now that we are at the "Finish Line," I want to thank my staff for their untiring hours of work and the fine job rendered.

First in line for congratulations is my Assistant Editor, Carl Kubo. He knew how to go ahead and get things done when the going got rough, and his help could never be expressed by words. Carl also put out the Fraternity and Sorority sections. I hope he can find as good an assistant next year when he takes over the "Bossing" of the WYO. Good luck and best wishes to you, Carl. Every year we try to sell more advertising than the previous year and out-do all other Business Managers . . . this year I believe Mary Breslin did both. Babe very efficiently handled all business records and advertising.

I have often heard that "hand-me-downs" are never popular and people resent the use of such, but Virginia Evans took over the duties of Copy Editor after Bill Hamilton left for the Navy and Bob Turner went to work on the Saratoga Sun. And, all by herself, completed the job in a marvelous fashion. Virginia is a wonderful girl and an editor would be nuts not to give her a job. Thanks again, Virginia, for a swell job. Another girl from the KD establishment who took over when the going got rough was Jackie Janssen, Organization Editor; Jackie also had to don the "hand-me-downs," but in doing so, proved a very reliable girl and also a person who would work in any department. Many thanks to you, Jackie. Old-Rip-Roaring, Army-bound Dave Fuller fought headaches all the way trying to get the Sports sections ready for deadlines. As Sports Editor, Dave even went so far as to keep his girl waiting while he worked on the WYO. Another editor, coming up from the ranks this year, is Pat Trimmer, Class Editor. Pat is another one who did not stop working when her sections were finished but went ahead and helped where help was needed. Thank you Patorski. Last, but not forgotten, is the Index Editor, Ann Bylund, who worked steady for the first quarter, then went to Casper to teach. Ann came back to the WYO spring quarter and completed her job in ship-shape fashion. There is a lot of work compiling the index and Ann did very well. This was my editorial staff. . . . Thanks a million for all your help and hours spent on the annual.

Everyone couldn't be an editor . . . it would be too many chiefs and no warriors. You have to have warriors for a job like this and also someone to do the tedious tasks that editors find tiresome. At this time I would like to thank all the warriors. To Therese McCue, Kay Jons, Rose Mary Eckel, Mary Helen Young, and Jerry Holm — Babe's advertising staff; and Winkie Tobin who gave up Coke for Lent; Betty Fitzsimonds, Ruthe Lindsey, Margie Millhone, Sally Brooder, Bounce Carlson, and all the girls who helped schedule group pictures, I say, "thanks to you and every bit of help was greatly appreciated." And to Chuck Rue, Tony Andrikopoulos, and Dick Harris, staff photographers, I say, "thanks."

To Mr. Howard Wagner, of Wagner Studios, thanks for all your excellent work and time . . . and to the Wheelwright Lithographing Company — Lorin, Max, Dick, and staff — without your assistance this WYO would never have been published. My sincere appreciation for all you've done.

Before I close, there are two men who played the most important part in my accomplishing this job — Mr. Biggs and Mr. Holborn, who very pains-takingly instructed me through my years in Journalism. And last but not least — my wife, who kept me from tearing out my hair and joining Alcoholics Anonymous after every deadline; I give to you, my dear, a kiss. This is "Thirty" folks. I'm finished. 'Tis THE END.

EDITOR, 1951 WYO Russ Patterson

Getting better and better

as the years go by

The prefix "WHR" in Registered Herefords carries the same significance and importance as "WYO" among Universities and Colleges; both emanate a feeling of good will, faithfulness and loyalty, devotion and steadfastness to future service.

Serving the people of Wyoming

Three Great Coals . . .

History is again at the crossroads. World conflict may once more levy its exhaustive demands upon our resources. Coal is the basic fuel on which our country must rely . . . it is the one fuel of unlimited reserves . . . it is the one fuel that can go to war without deserting the homefront. Yes . . . coal can be relied upon to power the machines of war and keep your home warm, too . . . because coal reserves are measured in centuries, not just years. Come what may, COAL is the nation's reliable fuel . . . coal is YOUR reliable fuel.

anything that can be

can be

Lithographed

Scenes of student life, portraits of campus queens, pencil and scratchboard drawings, and lovely color photographs can all be reproduced in life-like detail by Offset Lithography. This most modern of printing processes has given your WYO editor new freedom in choosing art techniques; in using exciting color; and in presenting his theme, "New Frontiers."

We've enjoyed working with Russ Patterson and the WYO staff in bringing this issue to life. It started with conferences on your campus and in our offices and progressed through artists' layouts, finished art, photographs, copy, proofs, and revisions to the actual printed forms. Each phase of the plan has proceeded with "nary a hitch." The result of this teamwork is a colorful, interesting, and thought - provoking record to be cherished through the years to come by students, faculty, editorial staff, and all who have worked to produce this volume.
